

For Further Information contact:

Jim Beriault
503-740-4869
Jim@Bmm.Media

The July Antique & Collectible Show, one of the Largest Collectible Shows in the Country is back!

Vendors from all over the U.S. create a one of a kind journey into the past!

Portland, Ore. – America’s Largest Antique & Collectible Show, takes place in Portland’s own backyard this summer on July 14 & 15. Produced locally, this show celebrates its 37th year and more than 100 shows at the Portland Expo Center. Exhibitors come from all over the country bringing their most interesting and popular vintage items. Held at the Portland Expo Center, there are more than 1,200 booths available to view – both inside and outside - this is the big one – fills the inside and front parking lot of the EXPO CENTER. If you are a treasure hunter, decorator, collector or just like to find pieces from your past, the July Expo Antique & Collectible Show is for you. Visit www.ChristinePalmer.net for more info.

NEW - Would you like to see the show and save some money? The Antique & Collectible Show is offering a Tri-Met Buy-One-Get-One entry to see the show – simply take Max or the Bus to the Expo Center – show your validated ticket and get a BOGO entry! With the I-5 and I-84 construction happening this Summer – Max (Yellow Line) is the fastest and smartest way to see the show – and they will reward you with a free entry when one entry is purchased! <https://trimet.org/schedules/maxyellowline.htm>

Once you arrive at the July Antique & Collectible Show patrons can buy pop collectibles, vintage clothing, glassware, silverware, antique radios from the 1930’s, turn-of-the-century furniture, movie memorabilia, collectible toys, sports memorabilia. If you’re a fan of collectible toys, look for wind-up mechanical toys, porcelain dolls, Star Wars collectibles, Sci-Fi books and comics and much more. Toys are often what adults reminisce about when antique toys are mentioned.

Seeing items from your childhood provoke wonderful memories such as your grandmother’s cookie jar, holiday decorations, board games and memorabilia. Pricing for many of the treasures you find at the show are modest and there is nothing like coming home and unwrapping those newly found treasure. For many it’s a second chance at owning that item that your mother threw away!

Also – just like you see on the popular collecting television programs, you can find that treasured item buried among the hundreds of booths at the show. Most of the exhibitors are part time collectors who enjoy finding items, then finding a permanent home for them. Attending an Antique & Collectible Show can be an emotional and fun-filled journey into the past.

If you grew up in the 1970’s — sit-coms and movies bring back similar memories. The July show makes those childhood memories come to life, with displays and items for sale from vendors featuring antique toys, from toy trucks, planes and trains to 1860s cast-iron toys, German and Japanese tin-toys and steel mechanical banks.

PAGE TWO

The show also features fine antiques from Tiffany glass to sterling smalls and paintings to bronzes. Home decorators can find furniture in American, European, 1890s golden oak, mahogany and country styles. More than 1,200 booths and hundreds of vendors will be selling make this the largest antique show in the US.

Christine Palmer & Associates has been producing Antique & Collectible Shows since 1981 in Portland, Oregon and the show has always brought an abundance of interesting collectors and businesses. The dealers come from almost every state in the country. Whatever your passion in collecting and decorating – don't miss the largest show of its kind anywhere. Visit the Portland Expo Antique & Collectible Show this July 14 and 15. For more information be sure to visit the web site: www.ChristinePalmer.net

Do you have treasures in your attic? Expert appraisers will be on hand to identify and evaluate show patrons individual pieces if brought to the show. Its only $7.00 per item (with show admission) and yes you can bring photos of larger pieces in your collection (no need to rent a U-Haul). These market evaluations are offered by ISA appraisers (the top in the industry), and proceeds benefit the local food banks.

Show Hours: Saturday: 9:00 am to 6:00 pm
Sunday: 10:00 am to 4:00 pm

Admission: $8.00 good for both days

ONLINE: Buy your tickets at www.christinepalmer.net

Location: Portland Expo Center, 2060 N. Marine Drive

Parking: $10 at the Expo Center
No offsite parking for this show due to local freeway construction (please take the MAX Yellow Line and save money, time and hassle. Plus the show will provide a buy-one-get-one free entry for showing your validated MAX or Bus pass)

MAX: Take the Yellow Line to the Expo Center (see schedules and times HERE)